Overview

Apriele Minott represents emerging growth companies, investors, and private equity and venture capital firms, providing strategic counsel tailored to clients' unique risks and opportunities as she guides them through mergers and acquisitions, venture financings, and a broad range of general corporate matters.

Adeptly balancing profitability with asset protection, Apriele brings significant experience advising venture capital funds on early-stage investments, including transactions structured through SAFEs, preferred equity financings, and fund-level arrangements. She has worked across a variety of industries, including application and infrastructure software, deep technology, and health sciences.

Apriele's practice is informed by her background representing private equity-backed and venture-backed companies, with a focus on financing transactions, mergers and acquisitions, and corporate governance matters.
