Overview

Eric J. Stephenson focuses his practice in the areas of civil and business litigation.

Eric received his Bachelor of Arts degrees in Psychology and Philosophy from Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles, California, before graduating from the University of Maryland School of Law in 2011, where he earned a Health Law Certificate.

During law school, Eric worked for the Maryland Medicaid Fraud Control Unit, where he drafted criminal charging documents and assisted in the investigation of claims of Medicaid fraud and elder abuse. He also worked for the Center for Health and Homeland Security in Baltimore, researching state emergency regulations and policy regarding bioterrorism preparedness. Eric is admitted to practice in the State of California.
