

Amy Mistler Celebrated as Top Business Advisor in St. Louis

Spencer Fane is pleased to announce attorney and St. Louis Office Managing Partner Amy Mistler as a 2026 St. Louis Small Business Monthly Top Business Advisor.

Curated through a thoughtful nomination and selection process, this annual feature highlights the business savvy and impact of some of the most influential professionals across the St. Louis, Missouri, metro. In her profile, Amy discussed the biggest challenges business owners currently face and also provided advice for navigating such obstacles. Emphasizing the importance of careful planning, finding the right advisor, and investing in culture, she used Spencer Fane as an example of how to remain agile in the market.

“As Spencer Fane has leaned into the concept of culture as a business strategy, I’ve witnessed the intentional growth and ongoing success within the St. Louis office and across our national footprint,” she said.

In the same issue, Eric Solverud was honored as a 2026 Top Business Attorney.

In addition to her OMP role, Amy maintains a strong commercial real estate practice representing developers, investors, lenders, and borrowers in all types of real estate transactions, including the acquisition, development, sale, exchange, financing, and leasing of office, retail, multifamily, hotel, and industrial properties. Amy also maintains a significant hospitality practice and regularly represents owners, developers, managers, and lenders all across the country in a variety of hotel transactions, including acquisition and sales, new development, project leasing and finance, franchise matters, and management agreements.

Read Amy’s full honoree profile here.