Amy Mistler Named to St. Louis Business 500 for Demonstrated Leadership

Spencer Fane attorney Amy Mistler was recently named to St. Louis Magazine's Business 500 for her role as Office Managing Partner (OMP) of the firm's St. Louis office.

The Business 500 celebrates the most impactful, innovative, and inspirational leaders of the St. Louis metro across a diverse array of industries. Amy is recognized in this year's Law: Managing Partners + Executives category for her steadfast leadership of nearly 50 attorneys as well as her involvement with Commercial Real Estate Women St. Louis.

In addition to her OMP role, Amy maintains a strong commercial real estate practice representing developers, investors, lenders, and borrowers in all types of real estate transactions, including the acquisition, development, sale, exchange, financing, and leasing of office, retail, multifamily, hotel, and industrial properties. Amy also maintains a significant hospitality practice and regularly represents owners, developers, managers, and lenders all across the country in a variety of hotel transactions, including acquisition and sales, new development, project leasing and finance, franchise matters, and management agreements.
