

Anne Sumpter Arney Joins Tennessee Bar Foundation Board of Trustees

Spencer Fane is pleased to announce attorney Anne Sumpter Arney's election to the Tennessee Bar Foundation Board of Trustees.

This 12-member board governs the foundation – an association of over 800 attorneys across Tennessee dedicated to distinguishing themselves in their communities, supporting law-related public interest projects, and administering the Interest on Lawyers' Trust Accounts (IOLTA) grant program. In her new role, Anne will advance the foundation's mission and interests in the organization's Middle Tennessee division. This is Anne's latest leadership position for the foundation following her elevation to fellowship and her former position on IOLTA Grant Committee.

At the firm, Anne draws on more than 30 years of experience working with many Nashville health care companies and medical professionals. She advises her health care clients on matters related to business law and transactional issues, as well as assisting them in navigating ever-changing health care laws and regulations.

Learn more about the Tennessee Bar Foundation here.