

Charles Robert Bone, Stacey Garrett Koju, and Ed Yarbrough Recognized Among Nashville's Most Influential People

Spencer Fane Bone McAllester attorneys Charles Robert Bone, Stacey Garrett Koju, and Ed Yarbrough were recently named to the Nashville Post "In Charge 2023: Legal" list. The annual list recognizes honorees as "Nashville's most influential people."

Charles Robert, Stacey, and Ed have each appeared on the list multiple times throughout the years and are always acknowledged for their leadership in the legal industry.

Henry Leventis, who left the firm for government service after being confirmed as the U.S. Attorney for the Middle District of Tennessee, also made the list.

At Spencer Fane, Charles Robert helps clients effectively and effectively close deals and establish successful operational procedures and governance. Stacey provides proactive legal advice on all aspects of critical corporate matters, and Ed represents clients in civil and criminal courts, trying cases and negotiating settlements.

Read the full In Charge: Legal list here.