Strategies for Mitigating Runaway Verdicts: A Guide for In-House Counsel

Please join former circuit court judge Michael J Cordonnier and Spencer Fane litigation partner Jason Smith for this Springfield seminar which is designed for in-house counsel who want to enhance their skills and knowledge in handling high-stakes litigation and avoiding runaway verdicts. Runaway verdicts can have devastating consequences for defendants, especially in-house counsel who are responsible for managing litigation risk and protecting the company's reputation and assets. In this seminar, you will learn strategies for mitigating such risk.

- How to identify and assess the potential for runaway verdicts in your cases, and how to best mitigate internal risk
- How to partner with outside counsel to develop a risk mitigation plan, including minimizing risks associated with responding to discovery and producing witnesses for deposition
- How to leverage technology and data to support your arguments and counter plaintiff's tactics

The seminar will provide practical tips and best practices that you can apply to your cases. You will also have the opportunity to ask questions and interact with the speakers. Don't miss this chance to learn from the professionals and gain valuable insights on how to protect your company. Register now and join us for this informative and interactive session.
