Crystal Howard Provides OBBBA Tax Insights for KCMBA CLE

Spencer Fane attorney Crystal Howard was a panelist for the Kansas City Metropolitan Bar Association CLE, Tax Implications of the One Big Beautiful Bill.

Held on October 29, this virtual presentation focused on different considerations for the OBBBA, such as its effect on estate planning, corporate tax, state and local tax, partnerships, individuals, renewable energy, and tax exemptions. Earlier this year, Crystal also co-authored a firm blog post centered on the OBBBA and its expansion of qualified small business stock benefits, which was later published by AZ Big Media.

At Spencer Fane, Crystal's practice resides at the intersection of business transactions and tax efficiency. Regularly counseling clients on a wide range of business and tax matters, she helps clients navigate complex commercial transactions and related tax planning, placing a particular focus on closely held businesses.
