

Helen Holden Discusses Employment Law at FDCC Event

Spencer Fane attorney Helen Holden recently presented at the Federation of Defense and Corporate Counsel (FDCC) webinar covering best collaboration practices for corporate counsel and outside employment counsel when representing a shared client.

Helen co-presented with Matthew Meaker, Assistant General Counsel for Sundt Construction. Helen and Matt discussed concerns about employee privacy, social media, and how to navigate the complex interplay between federal and state employment laws.

During the presentation, Matt noted that in his role as in house counsel, he seeks “operational intelligence immediately.” The conversation between Helen and Matt focused on how outside counsel can best address that need.

At Spencer Fane, Helen concentrates her practice on the management-side of employment law, which is evident in the practical advice and training she provides to management on human resource issues. Helen’s clients include companies in diverse industry sectors, including construction, real estate, manufacturing, technology, health care, distribution, and the retail and service sectors.
