

SpencerFane®

Jeremy Rucker Shares Cyber Best Practices at Tri-State Cancer Summit

Spencer Fane attorney Jeremy Rucker presented on the current state of cybersecurity in the health care field and preventing future cyberattacks at 2022 Tri-State Cancer Summit, an annual conference hosted by the Association of Community Cancer Centers (ACCC), on May 21.

During his presentation, Cyber Attack: How to Protect Your Center, Jeremy provided an overview of various types of cyberattacks, specifically looking at ransomware – the common causes, the impact, and the overall timelines. He shared best practices for protecting medical practices, creating a cyber incident response plan, and building an incident response team.

At Spencer Fane, Jeremy focuses his practice on cybersecurity and data privacy and regularly advises clients on compliance and incident response issues. He has represented companies in all industries, including health care, banking and finance, and manufacturing.