Julie Jorgensen to Speak on Impact of Climate Change on Professional Claims at 2025 PLDF Annual Meeting

September 19, 2025

Paris Hotel, 3655 S Las Vegas Blvd, Las Vegas, NV 89109

Spencer Fane attorney Julie Jorgensen is one of the featured panelists at the Professional Liability Defense Federation's 2025 Annual Meeting, focused on the latest developments in professional negligence claims. The meeting will take place September 17-19 at the Paris Hotel in Las Vegas and includes a full schedule of exciting CE / CLE sessions in addition to networking activities and other social events.

Julie, along with two other panelists, will lead a session titled, "The Impact of Climate Change on Professional Claims," on Friday, September 19. The panelists will discuss increased liability exposure caused by climate change, specifically, an uptick in claims against design professionals, agents, and brokers. They will also examine the potential effects from a geographical perspective, highlighting the cities and regions most at risk for natural disasters and other severe weather events.

At the firm, Julie is an accomplished litigator with more than 25 years of experience trying matters in state and federal courts. She has extensive experience in professional liability litigation and represents a variety of professionals – including architects, engineers, accountants, attorneys, and real estate professionals – regarding claims of errors or omissions in the performance of their duties.

PLDF is a national membership organization that includes attorneys, insurance claims professionals, and risk managers committed to advancing the defense of professional liability claims through education, advocacy, and community-building.
