

Keith Call and Clark Gardner Discuss Healthy Conflict with Utah Governor

Spencer Fane attorneys Keith Call and Clark Gardner interviewed Utah Gov. Spencer J. Cox about his 'Disagree Better' Initiative, and their discussion was published in the Utah State Bar Journal as part of the publication's March/April issue.

During the conversation, the trio discussed the goal of the initiative: to promote civil conflict and healthy disagreement in an increasingly polarized world. Gov. Cox explained how he got invested in the topic, defined healthy disagreement, and emphasized the necessity of remaining civil for legal professionals.

As a law firm with humility as its 'north star' value, Spencer Fane maintains a commitment to ethics and civility similar to the paradigm Gov. Cox shared in his conversation with Keith and Clark. The firm's attorneys and staff seek to operate in service to the betterment of others and strive to gather divergent perspectives, as well as data-driven insights, to arrive at more robust decisions.

At Spencer Fane, Keith and Clark help corporate and individual clients with all of their litigation needs so they can stay focused on their core business and personal interests. They excel in handling complex commercial, technology, and IP litigation as well as professional liability defense.

Read the full article here.