

Kersten Holzhueter Honored as Kansas City Business Journal NextGen Leader

Spencer Fane attorney Kersten Holzhueter was recently honored as a NextGen Leader by the Kansas City Business Journal (KCBJ). The award recognizes 25 rising stars in the Kansas City business community.

Known as a leader both in and outside of the firm, Kersten currently serves as a Practice Group Leader for the firm's Litigation and Dispute Resolution group and as a board member for the Association for Women Lawyers of Greater Kansas City and Lawyers Encouraging Academic Performance (LEAP).

Kersten is an advocate for women in the legal field and volunteers her time to mentor other attorneys while remaining dedicated to her clients and practice.

"I transitioned to leading our team and clients through unexpected physical and mental challenges," Kersten explained in the KCBJ article. "I had to be nimble, patient and compassionate. The logistics of growing the firm and learning to thrive in the new normal were stressful."

To read Kersten's full KCBJ profile, please click here. Please note, a subscription may be required.