

Mary Bacon Outlines Construction Contracts in Recent Article

Spencer Fane attorney Mary Bacon published an article in Construction Executive, highlighting construction contracts and several dispute resolution procedures involved.

Titled “Alternative Dispute Resolution: The Differences Among Mediation, Litigation and Arbitration,” the article discusses three options that the majority of construction contracts require: mediation, litigation, or arbitration.

“When negotiating or agreeing upon dispute resolution procedures, it is important to keep the differences between the three procedures in mind,” Mary explained in the article.

To read the full article, please click here.