Mike G. Silver to Speak and Lead Spencer Fane Engagement at Firm-Sponsored American Fintech Council Policy Summit

Spencer Fane is pleased to sponsor the American Fintech Council Policy Summit 2026 on November 17 in Washington D.C. Attorney Mike G. Silver will speak at the conference and lead the firm's effort to showcase its rapidly growing national Fintech team.

This gathering convenes industry leaders and policymakers for informative programming and networking opportunities centered on the future of financial technology. Mike will moderate the Earned, Not Owed: Stream is Reimagining How the World Gets Paid session. The presentation will explore the evolution of earned wage access, key state-level legislative victories, ongoing regulatory challenges, and growing bipartisan support in Congress.

At Spencer Fane, Mike is a financial services and fintech advisor and thought leader who helps clients navigate regulatory labyrinths and uncertainties. Drawing on more than two decades of private and public sector experience in the nation's capital, Mike counsels banks, mortgage lenders, fintech companies (from early-stage to established), and other financial services clients on regulatory compliance, product counseling, policy advocacy, and litigation matters involving administrative law or significant policy implications.

Spencer Fane is a member of AFC's Legal Advisory Committee and is a Bronze Sponsor at this year's Summit. Mike will be joined by a team of colleagues, including Shelli Clarkston, Greg Ewing, Mark Rooney, Lauren Friend McKelvey, Bill Powers, John Cunningham, and Jon Cornfield. The team will host a dinner at the Summit with established fintech companies, startups, accelerators, investors, media, and other attendees from across the fintech ecosystem.
