SpencerFane®

Scott Davis and Tyler Scott to Speak at Perrin Conferences' PFAS Litigation and Regulatory Developments Conference

Spencer Fane attorneys Scott Davis and Tyler Scott will speak at the Perrin Conferences' virtual PFAS Litigation and Regulatory Developments Conference on Thursday, February 6. The agenda features several pressing industry topics, including current litigation and multi-district litigation, federal regulatory and state-level developments, PFAS consumer fraud, unique PFAs claims, and more.

Perrin Conferences is the foremost provider of joint plaintiff / defendant litigation conferences which offer specialized continuing legal education. In addition to in-person conferences, presentations, meetings, and mock trials, the company's virtual conferences provide accessible opportunities for litigators across the U.S. to participate in.

Since joining Spencer Fane in October 2024, Scott and Tyler have played pivotal roles in bolstering the firm's preeminent national insurance litigation practice. With decades of experience successfully navigating particularly complex and contentious litigation, the accomplished partners have served as thought leaders across multiple focus areas including environmental law.

At the firm, Scott helps clients resolve complex business disputes through strategic counseling and litigation, advancing their interests while reducing financial exposure as he creates optimal paths for success in and out of the courtroom. His areas of focus include insurance coverage and bad faith claims, environmental disputes, financial disputes, business litigation, and personal injury litigation.

Tyler aids insurance providers in evaluating novel and complex insurance coverage claims and developing risk-averse strategies to resolve issues and negotiate disputes to avoid costly litigation. When litigation becomes necessary, he employs years of experience and strong legal acumen to defend clients against breach of policy and bad faith claims and to pursue subrogation and contribution on behalf of clients in state and federal courts across the country.

Learn more about Perrin Conferences here and the PFAS Litigation and Regulatory Developments Conference here.