

SpencerFane®

Shawn Tuma Provides Insight into Technology's Impact on Social Issues

Spencer Fane attorney Shawn Tuma was recently interviewed by ABC affiliate Denver7 for an article and TV news interview on technology's impact on social issues.

While technology allows for the advantage of widespread awareness in real time, there is also less privacy and safety. "Things that are developed with the best of intentions and for good intentions and good purposes, will always be used for other purposes and with other intentions," Shawn explained.

As a cybersecurity attorney with a deep breadth of experience, Shawn reminds his clients and the public "nothing is free in this world. When a company develops an app and gives it to you or me or anyone else for free to use for free, we are the product."

To read the full article, please click here.