

SpencerFane®

Silicon Valley Business Journal Profiles Jen Coleman Among 2026 Women of Influence

Following her selection as a 2026 Silicon Valley Business Journal Women of Influence honoree, Spencer Fane partner Jen Coleman was featured in the publication's profile series recognizing this year's distinguished leaders.

Jen's honoree profile highlighted her impactful labor and employment practice, commitment to helping employers navigate complex workplace challenges, and dedication to serving businesses throughout Silicon Valley. The feature also recognized her leadership within the legal profession and her contributions to the broader business community, qualities that earned her a place among the publication's 2026 Women of Influence class.

At Spencer Fane, Jen is a trial attorney who advises and represents employers of all sizes on a wide range of workplace matters. Her practice focuses on employment counseling, risk assessment, policy development, hiring and termination issues, workplace investigations, and the defense of employment-related claims.

Read Jen's full Women of Influence profile here.