

Spencer Fane Climbs Law360 400 Ranking, Reflecting Continued Growth

On the heels of continued recognition as the nation's fastest-growing law firm, Spencer Fane has once again earned an improved placement in another of the leading industry rankings tracking the largest law firms in the U.S. by attorney head count.

Most recently, Law360 released its 2026 Law360 400, listing Spencer Fane at #92 among the nation's largest law firms. The ranking marks another step forward for the firm after breaking into the top 100 for the first time the previous year at #93 and represents a significant climb since Spencer Fane first appeared on the list in 2014.

The recognition reflects the firm's continued growth through a strategy centered on exceptional client service, attracting and retaining top legal talent, and maintaining the collaborative culture that distinguishes the firm. As the firm continues to expand its national footprint and deepen its capabilities across key practice areas, it remains focused on delivering value-driven legal solutions that help clients achieve their business objectives.

"We are hopeful that our advances in these rankings reflect the dedication of our attorneys and professional staff, the trust our clients place in us, and the strength of a Spencer Fane culture that continues to attract exceptional talent," Spencer Fane Chair Patrick J. Whalen said. "We are proud of the growth we've achieved and remain focused on building strategically while delivering the outstanding service our clients expect."

The firm's continued advancement in the Law360 400 further reinforces the momentum Spencer Fane has built over the past decade through intentional growth and long-term investment in its people, clients, and communities.
