Spencer Fane Continues California Growth with Addition of Litigation Associate in Santa Monica

Spencer Fane LLP is pleased to announce Rachael Gray Chubey joined the Litigation and Dispute Resolution practice group as an associate in the firm's Santa Monica office.

Rachael's wide-ranging practice includes multidistrict, class action, and mass tort matters in federal and state courts. She provides communicative and collaborative legal services based on extensive experience with a diverse range of clients while conducting legal research, coordinating discovery processes, drafting documents, preparing for depositions, and handling all stages of dispute resolution processes. This includes trials before judges and juries along with mediations, arbitrations, and other forms of alternative dispute resolution.

"We continue to be impressed with the response from existing and prospective clients in the region since the firm expanded into California this past fall," said Karen McCay, Office Managing Partner for Spencer Fane in Santa Monica. "As needs to handle the full spectrum of litigation matters increase, welcoming attorneys such as Rachael who offer a wide range of experience is vital to our commitment to collaborative and efficient client services."

Rachel completed her undergraduate studies at the University of Denver and later earned her Juris Doctor from the Loyola Law School in Los Angeles. While in law school, she served as an intern for the Loyola Project for the Innocent in addition to completing internships for two California-based law firms.
