Spencer Fane Duo Talks OSHA Trends at ASSP Meeting

Spencer Fane attorneys Andrew Brought and Paul Jacobson presented to the American Society of Safety Professionals (ASSP) Heart of America Chapter on January 23 in Independence, Missouri.

During their session, OSHA Outlook & Current Enforcement Trends, Drew and Paul provided an overview of current OSHA priorities and policy shifts under the current administration. Topics included enforcement areas such as LOTO, trenching, and warehousing and flexibility for smaller employers.

At Spencer Fane, Drew leads the firm's Environmental and Energy practice group in which Paul also plays a key role. The team harnesses deep experience to help clients identify and adeptly navigate environmental and workplace safety challenges involving OSHA, EPA, state environmental and workplace safety agencies, and private third parties.
