

Spencer Fane Expands into Nashville Market through Combination with Bone McAllester Norton

Bone, Crumlin, Garrett Koju named to leadership positions

Spencer Fane LLP is pleased to announce its combination with Bone McAllester Norton PLLC, one of Nashville's preeminent law firms and one known for its deep commitment to clients and the community. Effective October 1, 2021, the addition brings 38 total attorneys practicing from Nashville and Hendersonville.

"As our firm has experienced significant growth in the Nashville market, joining Spencer Fane allows us to stay true to the philosophy that made our firm successful – a culture of humility and service, commitment to invest in the surrounding community, and a laser focus on retaining top legal talent – while being able to continue on the same trajectory with a more expansive platform," Charles Robert Bone said. "We look forward to our clients benefiting from the new services and geographic coverage offered by this combination."

Bringing the firm's total number of locations to 22, the combination positions Spencer Fane to expand in terms of both headcount and geographic reach to meet the growing needs of their clients.
