Spencer Fane Opens New Office Space in Greenville, South Carolina

Spencer Fane LLP is pleased to announce the opening of new office space in Greenville, S.C., reinforcing the firm's commitment to making legal services available to local and national clients in the markets where they live and do business. Kurt Rozelsky, a litigation partner with a broad range of clients based in and operating throughout the southeastern U.S., will serve as the Office Managing Partner, while partner Robyn Nordin Stowell, with a national practice focused on private clubs and golf and resort transactions, will base her East Coast practice in the South Carolina office.

The office will be located at 27 Cleveland Street, Suite 201.

"I look forward to growing the firm's presence in Greenville," Kurt said. "Spencer Fane prioritizes responsive services, and we recognized a need for this space to better serve our clients in the region while also providing opportunity to grow that base. I'm excited about further integrating our firm into the local business community while providing value to clients."

One of the fastest-growing law firms in the U.S., Spencer Fane currently operates 22 offices located in 12 states with more than 400 attorneys collaboratively working together to provide a full range of corporate legal services. The firm's intentional growth strategy involves establishing a national footprint in markets important to business operations for clients and potential clients.
