Spencer Fane Product Liability Team Growth Highlighted in Law360

As Spencer Fane continues its steady growth across its national footprint, a recent Law360 article featured the firm's newly expanded product liability team. After the firm announced the addition of seven attorneys (four partners, two of counsel, and one staff attorney) in April following two other additions – partner William Purnell and of counsel attorney Vanessa Merassaint – in March, the news outlet highlighted the team's main reason for joining: culture.

The article summarized the accomplishments of the newest attorneys Carmen Bickerdt, Christa Chance, Audra Dean, David Koob, Hannah Lee, Tori Levine, and Stacy Young. Law360 interviewed Bickerdt and Levine about the firm's expansion in the product liability space and why they first connected with Spencer Fane.

"We talked to several people here and people who knew the firm," Levine said. "They all said it wasn't marketing but the values of Spencer Fane … Their culture and values really aligned with what we were trying to achieve."

Bickerdt echoed this, saying, "Spencer Fane really shares our core values."
