Spencer Fane Strengthens Litigation Practice with Addition of Charles Yarbrough in Tennessee Office

Spencer Fane is pleased to announce Charles Yarbrough has joined the Litigation and Dispute Resolution practice group as an associate in the firm's Nashville office.

Charles brings both prosecutorial experience with the Office of the District Attorney General in Nashville and two summer internships with Spencer Fane to his private practice. As an assistant district attorney general, Charles spent time as a prosecutor in the Vehicular Crimes Unit. In his prior work for the firm, he engaged in intensive legal research, document drafting, and trial preparation.

Charles' experience working as a district attorney gives him unique insight into legal processes and the ability to collaboratively create and deploy litigation strategies aimed at achieving resolutions aligned with business objectives. He works with clients to define, assess, and minimize risks and develop proactive approaches to navigate the shifting legal landscape with numerous industries.

"Our firm remains committed to providing the resources needed to provide efficient and effective client service," said Charles Robert Bone, Office Managing Partner in Nashville. "Charles' past experience with the District Attorney's Office works to his advantage, given his familiarity with our local courts. He also shares our core values and commitment to culture as a firm."

Charles completed his undergraduate studies at Tennessee Technological University and later earned his Juris Doctor from Belmont University College of Law.
