

Stacey Garrett Koju Named a Top 100 Lawyer in Tennessee by National Black Lawyers

Spencer Fane Bone McAllester attorney Stacey Garrett Koju was recently selected for inclusion into the National Black Lawyers Top 100 Lawyers in the State of Tennessee.

National Black Lawyers bestows this honor only to the top 100 African American lawyers in each state or region with reputations for providing excellent legal representation in their respective practice areas. The organization bases this invitation-only membership on current member referrals and independent research. As such, National Black Lawyers is proud to recognize Stacey's contributions to the legal profession and welcome her into their African American legal brain trust.

The National Black Lawyers is a professional organization that celebrates legal excellence and promotes its members as subject-matter experts, facilitates the exchange of timely information to enable its members to maintain their status as leaders, and represents a strong national network of top African American attorneys.

At Spencer Fane, Stacey provides proactive legal advice on all aspects of critical corporate matters, recognizing each transaction is important to the future of a business and its owners and allowing them to maintain successful operations. She concentrates her law practice in the areas of corporate transactions, labor and employment law, employment practices, health care, and higher education. She also maintains a deep investment in the Nashville community through charitable and civic activities.

Learn more about The National Black Lawyers here.