Steve Ling Brings Diverse Real Estate Practice to Spencer Fane

Spencer Fane LLP is pleased to announce Steve Ling has joined the Real Estate Practice Group as a partner in the firm's Minneapolis office.

Ling provides counsel to developers, builders, corporations, small businesses, and investors, helping those clients to efficiently close sophisticated real estate and commercial transactions. He regularly drafts and negotiates purchase agreements, leases, and general contracts, while utilizing his business background to provide strong advocacy for his clients' interests. He also represents clients in obtaining zoning and land use approvals for developments and construction projects.

In addition, Ling earned certification as a Real Property Law Specialist by the Minnesota State Bar Association.

"Steve adds to our multidisciplinary and result-oriented real estate team focused on comprehensive solutions," said Donald G. Heeman, Office Managing Partner for Spencer Fane in Minneapolis. "Our firm continues to seek out talented attorneys who provide value to our clients through effective legal counsel no matter where they have or are looking to establish a business presence. We know Steve's contributions help us maintain this focus."

Ling completed his undergraduate studies at Dordt University in Iowa and later earned his Juris Doctor from the University of Minnesota Law School.
