The CCBJ Features DeAndrea Washington as a 'Woman to Watch'

Following her placement on the Corporate Counsel Business Journal's 50 Women to Watch list, Spencer Fane attorney DeAndrea Washington was recently spotlighted in the publication.

In her profile, DeAndrea shared details about her background, commitment to her Houston community, and proudest achievement.

Discussing how the unexpected March 2022 loss of her best friend, who was also an attorney, taught her the meaning of perseverance, DeAndrea reflected: "Cora was a fierce advocate and represented the unrepresented. Now, the work that I do as an attorney and in the diversity, equity, and inclusion space is more important than ever. I am not only working to fulfill my goals but am committed to continuing the social justice work for women and minorities that Cora started and devoted her life to."

At Spencer Fane, DeAndrea focuses her practice on a variety of labor and employment litigation matters. She provides preventive counsel and litigates employment disputes on behalf of public and private employers in federal and state courts, in arbitration, and before administrative agencies.

DeAndrea is also a respected voice in the firm's leadership. She serves on the Spencer Fane Executive and DEI Committees and advises on diversity, equity, and inclusivity to impact firm decisions and strategy at the highest level of the firm.
