What Now? The Ever-Evolving Status of Title IX Regulations

Spencer Fane attorneys Joseph Hatley and Stephanie Lovett-Bowman will present an upcoming webinar covering the updated Title IX regulations.

Joseph and Stephanie will explain the new Title IX regulations that took effect seven months ago. This includes the Biden administration's intent to revamp those regulations, which remain legally in effect for now, and that institutions failing to follow them may still face civil claims by complainants and respondents.

During the presentation, they will provide an update on the current status of Title IX, answer questions about practical implementation of the regulations since last August, and moderate a discussion of participants about challenges they have faced and how they have solved those challenges.
