Overview

Jessica Gale is a litigation attorney who works with business owners and in-house counsel to find cost-effective strategies to further their business goals and protect their interests. When that means high-stakes litigation, Jessica proactively litigates the case, pays attention to the details, and maintains a high level of communication with her clients. She also practices in the area of legal ethics, assisting other attorneys, law firms, in-house counsel, and government agencies when ethical questions or legal issues related to professional conduct arise.

When she is not practicing law, Jessica serves as a Member of the Executive Board of Directors for Fresh Start Women's Foundation, a nonprofit organization dedicated to empowering the women of her community to succeed personally and professionally.

Jessica also has working knowledge of the Spanish language.
