Overview

Justin helps insurance carriers navigate insurance coverage and bad faith disputes from pre-suit demands through trials and appeals. While his practice covers all facets of defending clients in state and federal courts and arbitrations, he has also curated a notable track record of ingenuity and success in major motions, class actions, and appeals.

Beyond his insurance focus, Justin draws on extensive experience litigating complex commercial cases and business disputes, personal injury suits, and product liability claims. He has also litigated cases on both sides of the aisle, giving him valuable insight into the opposition's perspective. Employing that insight, Justin anticipates issues and maneuvers through adversity to resolve conflicts and secure favorable results for his clients.

Throughout the pre-litigation and litigation life cycle, Justin prioritizes exceptional client service by continually assessing risks and weighing options, always guided by his clients' overarching business objectives. Combining his attention to clients' unique organizations with established industry knowledge, Justin provides zealous advocacy tailored to safeguarding his clients' interests.
