Overview

Kirstin Kanski maintains a comprehensive banking and financial services practice in which she provides strategic legal advice to financial institutions on a variety of bank regulatory matters, including enterprise risk management, corporate governance, charters and activities, data privacy, consumer compliance, payment systems, digital assets, third-party risk, regulatory applications, mergers and acquisitions, exams, enforcement actions, and remediation. She has significant experience in the design and implementation of enterprise compliance, risk, data privacy, ethics, and investigation programs.

As an experienced litigator, Kirstin also advises banks and financial services companies in resolving consumer and commercial defaults, consumer and complex fraud matters, corporate trust matters, insolvency proceedings, receiverships, regulatory investigations, and litigation. She has successfully resolved matters on behalf of state and national banks, outside directors, and payment processors with the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, and the Federal Reserve.

Kirstin brings a balanced perspective when advising her clients, pulling from her years of practice both in the industry and at the Federal Reserve. Notably, she served as senior counsel and vice president to one of the largest American multinational financial services companies, and senior counsel to the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis.

Additionally, Kirstin has represented both creditors and trustees in complex preference and fraudulent transfer cases. She has also represented clients in state and federal criminal proceedings, previously serving as CJA panel counsel in the District of Minnesota.

Beyond private practice, Kirstin serves as adjunct faculty at the University of St. Thomas School of Law, teaching banking law, financial regulation, and UCC Article 2 Sales.
