Overview

Mary Burgoyne advises private equity firms and strategic companies on a wide range of critical transactions, concentrating on mergers and acquisitions and general corporate matters. In her focus areas as well as in day-to-day corporate decision-making, she develops and optimizes short- and long-term strategies for favorable outcomes and improved business operations.

As she continues to curate her transactional practice, Mary primarily works in the health care, food and beverage, and life sciences industries. Bolstered by a diverse set of creative and strategic legal skills, she identifies unique opportunities and challenges facing each client and then structures tailored plans which leverage beneficial circumstances while mitigating risk as transactions and other business decisions evolve.
