Overview

Mike Kuzma advises companies on a diverse range of corporate transactions, developing agile solutions to assist with critical business elements ranging from entity setup and governance issues to asset and equity transactions. He also maintains a robust real estate practice in which he counsels owners, developers, landlords, and tenants on all aspects of complex commercial real estate transactions, including the leasing, purchase, and sale of real property.

With extensive experience in Japanese eDiscovery forged early in his career, Mike works with a diverse client base across both the U.S. and Japan. He is a valuable asset when conducting due diligence or investigations involving Japanese language data and documents, having earned an Advanced Japanese Linguistics Certificate from the prestigious Japanese Ministry of Education's Japanese Exchange and Teaching Program prior to his legal career.

In addition to his primary focus areas, Mike has deep experience in antitrust litigation, spending years working on the largest criminal antitrust investigation in U.S. history. He has also established a practice in the insurance sector, aiding Nebraska domestic insurance companies in complying with applicable state and federal regulatory laws, multidisciplinary experience which lends itself to a comprehensive perspective as he navigates a wide variety of casework.

Before entering private practice, Mike notably assisted in managing the State of Nebraska Department of Economic Development's trade office in Tokyo, Japan, and helped establish another trade office in Shanghai, China.
