Overview

Sara Morton represents individuals, small businesses, and large corporations in a broad range of civil litigation matters, including personal injury, employment, real estate, insurance defense, mass / toxic torts, class actions, and other general commercial litigation and civil liability matters.

With more than 10 years of experience as a plaintiffs' attorney, Sara utilizes these valuable insights into opposing counsel's rationale and processes to inform her current practice. This perspective forms the foundation of her client advocacy and litigation strategy, which has enabled her to secure hundreds of millions of dollars in recoveries for her clients.

Sara excels at building rapport with her clients, breaking down the facts at issue in each matter, and managing each case efficiently. Recognized for her work in the personal injury context, she knows when to argue while maintaining professionalism in all her dealings.
