Overview

Smith Stubbs assists businesses and individuals with a wide range of litigation matters, advancing client interests by increasing leverage and limiting liability no matter the scale or scope of the dispute. He boasts specific experience in mergers and acquisitions and corporate transactions and has helped several clients navigate the Corporate Transparency Act.

Prior to entering private practice, Smith served as a law clerk to the Utah Attorney General's Office in the White Collar & Commercial Enforcement division, where he assisted in large-scale consumer protection actions and securities actions, aided with settlement negotiations, and researched and drafted all forms of legal documents.

Smith earned his Juris Doctor at the University of Idaho College of Law, during which time he completed more than 50 hours of pro bono legal service as well as an externship with Boise State University's Office of the General Counsel. Prior to law school, he worked as a securities analyst, gaining valuable experience in financial risk management which he applies to his current practice.
