Overview

Victoria McLaughlin represents clients across an expansive list of industries within a diverse litigation practice, including general liability, trust and estates, guardianship, commercial, professional liability, fiduciary litigation and more, also employing her dynamic skill set to provide effective appellate counsel.

With a high capacity to quickly shift between competencies while remaining attuned to individual client objectives, Victoria's litigation work is as comprehensive as it is nimble. She resourcefully applies cross-industry insights to form well-founded, practical strategies to favorably resolve disputes, ensuring intentional processes and a track record of success.

Victoria's practice also spans litigation related to First Amendment matters, insurance coverage and re-insurance, and construction.
