Overview

Yana Rusovski's practice focuses on the legal needs of clients in the real estate, finance, and government sectors, with particular emphasis on regulatory compliance, preventative counseling, and defending against enforcement actions. She regularly helps clients identify and manage fair housing and fair lending risks and specializes in developing carefully tailored strategies to resolve disputes in ways that safeguard business goals, reputations, and relationships.

Yana has experience working with large and small clients, including market rate and affordable housing providers, individual property owners, residential and senior living real estate owners, developers, nonprofits, management companies, local governments and housing authorities, appraisal management companies, industry trade groups, banks, non-bank mortgage lenders, and business lenders. She regularly conducts fair housing and fair lending trainings and speaks at national conferences on these topics.

Throughout her dynamic practice, she has advised high-profile executives, led government investigations, negotiated multimillion-dollar settlements, managed cross-functional teams, and driven operational efficiency across diverse industries and particularly sensitive matters. She is also CIPP/US certified and has a strong understanding of privacy laws and data protection frameworks to further protect clients.

Yana's record of regulatory work includes vast experience with the Fair Housing Act, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, Equal Credit Opportunity Act, and Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, among others; and frequent engagement with federal regulators, including the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the U.S. Department of Justice, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. She has managed, negotiated, and administrated more than $10 million in government contracts.

Additionally, she is widely recognized as an industry leader in negotiating HUD conciliation agreements. Her extensive knowledge has shaped fair housing and fair lending policies.

As a FINRA arbitrator, Yana has handled numerous matters pertaining to breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, negligence, and securities. She is also a mediator with more than a decade of experience in Title VIII, banking, Title VII, design and construction requirements, and employment issues.

Prior to entering private practice, Yana worked for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, where she led and managed investigations and compliance reviews of privately owned multi-family housing providers, financial institutions, and hundreds of recipients of federal funding, including state governments, cities, counties, municipalities, and Public Housing Authorities. Yana also served as a Special Assistant U.S. Attorney in the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Northern District of Illinois and completed a detail at the Consumer Federal Protection Bureau.

With a deep commitment to education, Yana is a current adjunct professor at Northwestern University's Pritzker School of Law and serves as a hearing officer for the Illinois State Board of Education.
