

SpencerFane®

Manufacturing

Optimizing operations and strategizing for growth.

From supply chain issues and rapidly evolving technology to a highly dynamic marketplace, manufacturing companies face multiple challenges to operational stability and long-term growth. Our team advises regional, national, and international manufacturers, developing creative solutions to the most vexing legal and business problems facing entities in the manufacturing sector.

Overview

Managing risk and incubating innovation

Spencer Fane Manufacturing lawyers negotiate and litigate contract issues, address employment policies and disputes, protect business assets, and help clients navigate the complexities of environmental requirements. We provide advice, counsel, and practical answers to the myriad questions faced by manufacturing companies.